Symposium Information.

The Community-Based Child Welfare National Symposium began as a conversation between Embrace Families, FL and ACH Child and Family Services, TX, but has quickly added additional organizations nation-wide in the conversation for this symposium. The projected attendance is 250 leaders from the community-based care movement.

Our Vision.

Community-based care models have shown to be better at addressing the needs of children and families. For those of us involved in these public-private partnerships, we know what is happening in our state, but it is difficult to get information, especially from those in other states, about what is working, what is being learned, new ideas, and how models are maturing.

Support.

This is an exciting time to start this conversation and we would like you to join us and support the efforts of this movement. We have outlined three ways for organizations whom are passionate about supporting these efforts: sponsorship, exhibits, and advertising.

All orders, invoices, and payments will be processed through ACH Child and Family Services.
